Highlights

Rafts

The Gull River was adrift with paddlers, furiously struggling to keep their crazy craft afloat on Saturday. The first Canada Day Crazy Raft Race, sponsored by the Minden BIA was a huge success. Please see page 6.

Clean air

The air quality at the Archie Stouffer Elementary School annex is questionable and some parents are insisting the board make improvements. Please see page 2.

Black

Arthur Black, our intrepid columnist, is in search of a gas station that still serves its customers. He's disturbed by the disappearance of the old style stations that clean the windshields. Please see page 4.

Drugs

People need to be educated about the horrible facts of drug abuse in order to avert a provincial crisis, says Muskoka MPP Ken Black. Black spoke at a recent meeting of the Minden Rotary Club. Please see page 19.

Education

Better communication is the key to improvements in the special education programs offered at Haliburton County schools. Please see page 11.

Skinheads' presence almost invisible

Local peaceful rally shows that 'we are not that kind of people'

Except for one minor skirmish in town, the presence of the hundred young skinheads on the weekend was almost invisible everywhere but at John Beattie's home.

Cars, vans and trucks filled with skinheads and Neo-Nazis—mostly teenagers started to arrive at Beattie's Bobcaygeon Road property early Saturday morning. But as they drove unnoticed through the busy Canada Day traffic in Minden, they couldn't help but see the hundreds of posters in homes and storefronts declaring that their ideology is not welcome here.

The only outbreak in town came at the conclusion of a community-based rally at the Village Green in the early afternoon. Immediately following brief statements made by United Church Minister Edward Moll and community spokesperson Sheila Zimon, the dozens of TV cameras and news teams zeroed in on Bob Rumiaski, a member of the Canadian Nationalist Party, who had just pulled up at the rally along with two skinheads.

While Rumiaski spouted his racist views to the media, Minden resident Betty Dionne and several others in the crowd urged him to go back to wherever he came from.

Later, Dionne said she couldn't just stand there and let Rumiaski spread his racist views. She said she had to do something.

The two squared off in front of a lurch of cameras and Dionne shoved a copy of the 'YES' poster in his face and asked him to read the text.

Rumiaski obliged, reading aloud the poster: "As a citizen of Canada and a member of this community, I believe in equality of all individuals regardless of race, colour, creed, religion or ethnic origin."

After another brief exchange, Rumiaski and his two skinhead friends raced to an awaiting van, climbed in the back and rode north out of town waving the Nationalist Party's banner out the back.

The peaceful rally in the parkette was staged as a demonstration of the community's revulsion to the Neo-Nazi rally on Beattie's property. About 50 area residents attended to support the selected spokespersons, Ed Moll and Sheila Zimon.

The gathering was "designed to let everyone know that we are not that kind of people," said Moll.

Zimon told the gathering she felt silence was not an appropriate response to the offensive rally being staged just more than a mile up the road. She said that as soon as she learned of what was being planned she "got on the phone and called everyone I knew."

Last Tuesday a meeting, involving representatives of the Legion, the police, the church and the community, was held at the United Church to decide on an appropriate course of action. "A consensus at the meeting made this gathering," Zimon said Saturday at the Village Green. In addition to the formal addresses, Moll played the guitar and sang a number of songs.

In his address, Moll quoted the text of the 'YES' poster as well as from an editorial from the Haliburton Echo. He urged the community to not be silent about their opposition to racist views.

To drive the importance of this message home, he recited a statement that had been made by Martin Niemoller, a Lutheran pastor imprisoned by the Nazis during the second world war:

"When they came for the Jews, I said nothing for I wasn't a Jew."

"When they came for the Blacks, I said nothing for I wasn't a Black."

"When they came for the Catholics, I said nothing for I wasn't a Catholic."

"When they came for the mentally retarded, the homosexuals, the gypsies, I said nothing for I had nothing to do with them."

"When they finally came for me there was no one left to speak."

Whether the white supremacist rally at Beattie's house was large or small wasn't important, said Moll. "Silence on our Larry Norman, a member of the Canadian Canoe Team, finds himself almost submerged in the frothing waters of the Gull River as he threads his way through gate 14 at the base of Horseshoe Falls. The action was part of the World Cup Canoe and Kayak competitions held during the weekend at the Minden Wild Water Preserve. 120 competitors from 18 countries tested their skill on the challenging Gull River course. A full report on the competition will appear next week.

Family fun contrasts violence

In spite of all the attention focused on the racist rally in Minden, it was one of the most pleasant Canada Day weekends across the county in years.

The weather was ideal for the many organized festivities. In Minden, the community celebrated the holiday with an exciting raft race along the Gull River. Hundreds of people lined the river banks, joining in the fun by cheering the competitors along. In the evening the local firefighters staged a thrilling exhibition of fireworks at the fairgrounds.

There was as much, if not more, fun to be had in West Guilford. That community held their annual festival, which included a cross-lake swim, foot races, baseball, horseshoes and a flea market.

The nice, friendly, family atmosphere of these events contrasted sharply with the violent nature of the White supremacist rally on John Beattie's property.

Parents worried about school's air quality

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The air quality in the Archie Stouffer Secondary School Annex is so poor that it could affect the performance of the children who go there, according to the home and school association.

Four members of the association, Kathy Stainton, John Stainton, Judy Phillips and Kathy Arbour attended last Tuesday's meeting of the board of education to bring their concerns to the trustees' attention.

The home and school representatives brought with them an air quality study that was done by the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit.

Public Health Inspector Tom Reddering carried out the study on January 18 and 19.

Reddering found the level of carbon dioxide in the building to be 2400 ppm (parts per million). According to Reddering's report, carbon dioxide levels of greater than 600-1000 ppm indicate that ventilation and fresh air intake should be improved.

Reddering found, as part of his study, that during the two days spent at the school there was a distinct difference in air temperature between the different rooms in the school indicating poor air transference within the building.

He also found that the mechanical ventilation supplied in the washrooms, vent air above the suspended ceiling only and not to the outside.

In the janitorial room, a return air intake is located directly below where toxic cleaning supplies are stored. Reddering says that if a container were accidentally spilled or leaked, the ventilation system would draw the fumes in and distribute them through the building.

At the conclusion of his report, Reddering included five recommendations that address the problem on air quality in the annex. They are;

—That the ventilation system be improved (especially the provision of outside fresh air) and further testing be performed,

—That the cleaning supplies and return air vent be separated to disallow contamination of air within the building, —That mechanical ventilation in washrooms be vented to the outside and not above the suspended ceiling, and —That provisions be made for adequate air exchange between classrooms.

In presenting the report to the trustees Mrs. Stainton also included six recommendations being made by the home and school association including the installation of operable windows and reversible fans in the building to aid in ventilation and air conditioning vents installed in the two classrooms that don't have them.

The association also wants to see a comparative air quality study done in November to monitor the effectiveness of the corrective measures.

Some of the concerns raised by the association have already been addressed by the board of education including the installation of window blinds in the front three classrooms, repair to the fresh air intake and proper operation of the air conditioning system.

At Tuesday's meeting, the trustees agreed that air conditioning vents should be installed in the remaining two rooms.

There are ceiling fans in some of the rooms now, but Mrs. Stainton said they are too noisy for a classroom atmosphere and any new fans installed should be the silent type.

The association is also concerned about the building's heating system. They claim that the thermostat is not responding to the temperature in the school and on several occasions last winter, the building became so hot the outside doors had to be opened.

Human rights complaint filed

The Canadian Jewish Congress (Ontario Region) and the Jamaican Canadian Association have joined together in filing a complaint with the Ontario Human Rights Commission over the publication and display of a notice advertising a "whites-only" rally, to be held under the auspices of neo-Nazi John Beattie.

Although both organizations believe this rally will attract only a small band of racist extremists, Bernie Farber, spokesman for Canadian Jewish Congress, said, "there should be no place in Ontario for those who seek to destroy racial harmony."

Paul Kafele, Executive Director of the Jamaican Canadian Association said, "in joining with the congress on this complaint, we stand with Ontarians of good will in recognizing the beauty of our multicultural society. We support any initiative that is anti-racist and advocated social harmony."

The joint complaint was filed under Section 12 of the Ontario Human Rights Code, which makes it an offense to publicly display any notice that indicated discrimination because of race, ancestry, religion, ethnic origin or color.

Good Show

Minden residents—and all residents of Haliburton county for that matter—can be proud of their highly visible show of resistance against the small group of racists who rallied here on the weekend.

There was no way of mistaking the obvious fact that this community has no tolerance for the beliefs of people like John Beattie. From one end of town to the other, the bright red and white YES posters were visible in storefronts and in peoples' homes, loudly declaring that this community believes in racial equality. In addition, community spokespersons Edward Moll and Sheila Zimon orated this same message at a press conference Saturday, ensuring to everyone listening that Minden does not share the views of white supremacy espoused by the Beatties of this world.

From the outset, many were saying that the white supremacist rally is really just a "media event". To a degree this is true. But what is also true is that Minden's image to the outside world was at stake. If the community opted to sit back and allow Beattie to accept all the media attention, the town could easily have been perceived as a breeding ground for such racist views.

Instead, this community chose to make a statement to the contrary. The news media could not help but take note of Minden's resistance to the rally. By mid-week the news reports were focusing more on Minden's positive stance and less on Beattie's unpopular rally. Beattie was beat at his own game—the game of media manipulation. He lost the spotlight and in all likelihood he will never regain it. At least not in Minden.

Instead of coming out of this unfortunate event with a tarnished image, Minden has displayed an uncommon strength that must be admired. For this, the community can again hold its head high.

Bummed out by self-serve gas station cashiers

Do self-serve gas stations bum you out? They sure do me. You drive up to the island, get, out, pump your own gas, then walk to the pillbox where a bored teenager with a Walkman booming in his ear takes your credit card through a slit at the bottom of a sheet of (presumably) assault-proof glass. While he checks the card electronically to make sure you're not Baby Face Nelson, you get to read the charming notices on the wall:

BILL DENOMINATIONS OVER $20 NOT ACCEPTED

NOTICE: TILL CONTAINS A MAXIMUM OF $20.

ATTENDANT CANNOT OPEN SAFE

Eventually, some computer in Dallas decided that you're good for twelve dollars worth of regular unleaded. Your card and voucher are disgorged from the slit. You sign, scribble your licence plate number and you're on your way. No fuss, no muss, no bother.

And minimal human contact. I tell ya, for a cold and heartless way to spend a few minutes, the old Self

black 'n white

by Arthur Black

Serve is hard to beat.

The bad news is that if the big oil companies have their way that last tiny ember of person-to-person contact — you know, where the attendant slips you your card and says "Have a nice day" — is destined to disappear. Down in Texas the oil barons are test marketing fully automated stations. You drive up to the pump, get out and stick your credit card right into the gas pump. This activates the pump and releases the nozzle. You pump your gas, take your card out and drive away. Some computer in Dallas sees to it that some computer in your bank takes the appropriate nibble out of your balance.

The oil barons are very big on the fully automated gas station. "Full automation means not having to wait in line or deal with an intermediary who handles the money," carols an industry spokesman.

What he doesn't mention is that the oil barons make more money from fully automated stations by eliminating the attendant's paycheck and forcing shmoe like you and me to act as unpaid employees.

There are some other 'benefits' the industry spokesman doesn't mention when he talks about the impending brave new world of fully automated gas stations — such as where will we go if we run out of gas or have a flat or need directions or a washroom?

It's a curious byproduct of some forms of progress that as things get more sophisticated they also get more primitive.

I can remember not so many years ago when we paid less for a gallon of gasoline than we now pay for a litre. Driving into one of those old-fashioned, inefficient service stations wasn't anything like the

Run organizers being sought

Editor:

This year 35,000 Canadians will die of cancer. At times the battle seems as insurmountable as the task Terry Fox faced when he started his Run across Canada to raise money for cancer research. His heroism is well-documented -- it has inspired hundreds of thousands of Canadians to join in raising money to fight this dreaded scourge. The results each year have been very encouraging and truly inspiring to all of us involved in organizing Run sites - of which we had 380 in Ontario last year.

chilly self serve experience. Two, sometimes three people would swarm your car. One would come to the driver's window and take your gasoline order while the other or others would check your oil top up your battery, clean the windows -- even debug your headlights and buff up the chrome on your bumpers if there wasn't a line of cars waiting.

The gas station was more like a corner store. It was a place you could take your lawn mower to be fixed, where kids could fill up the tires on their bikes or inflate their inner tubes for a trip to the beach.

There are still stations that provide free air, clean rest rooms and a licenced mechanic, but their numbers are shriveling. Ten years ago, 75 percent of all service stations had repair bays. Today, fewer than half of them do.

Donald Aglin is a writer who specializes in automotive matters. He says that full automation personifies the gas stations of the future. "The return on an investment is simply much higher," he writes. "The concept of the service station as a close family friend is just not there anymore."

Well I didn't kill it. Did you?

Taking offence to being labelled 'thugs'

Editor:

In response to the article on Mr. Monk in last week's Minden Times.

This is an excerpt from an article in the Toronto Star dated June 24, 1989, describing a rider's entrance onto Minden's Main Street.

"As I took a run, riding hunkered down in the protection of the 750 CC Maxim X's windshield, with Donna huddled behind me, exhilaration kicked in and the cold was forgotten,

A couple of thousand bikes left Pickering; more than 4,000 arrived in Minden as groups from other parts of Ontario joined us.

Both sides of the Main Street were lined with shiny motorcycles. There were modern highway cruisers with sidecars that looked like spinoffs from the space program, a few cafe racers with their swept-back fairings, a smattering of classic British Nortons and Triumphs from the fifties and sixties...and Harleys. Oh my, were there Harleys."

This was not written by a Harley thug, but by a professional and, probably family man. A man who was impressed by what he experienced at The Ride

For Sight.

He could have been on a Harley. He probably will be on a Harley someday.

Motorcycles of all shapes and sizes attended The Ride For Sight. Motorcycles of all shapes and sizes could have been parked in Mr. Monk's parking lot.

We are relieved to know that Mr. Monk has the intelligence to differentiate between Harley thugs and professional, family men. After all, some of the Harley riders were Army, cobblers, mechanics, construction contractors, government employees, doctors, photographers etc., and that's not professional is it, Mr. Monk? And some brought their families and their dog.

All of these "Jackasses" contributed over $400,000 for retinitis pigmentosa and that's worth it.

Mr. Monk, your foot is in your mouth when you categorize people. We ride Harleys. We live here, we work here, we're professional and we have families.

...and we take offence to being called thugs and "Jackasses."

Floating down the river.... on a Canada Day afternoon

The number of entries in the first Crazy Raft Race wasn't as high as organizers had hoped, but those who did participate put on a tremendous show for the hundreds of spectators in the park along the banks of the Gull River in Minden.

The raft race was put on by the Minden BIA and spearheaded by Cam Monk. He says he was pleased with the first running of this highly entertaining race and plans to have it back bigger and better for next Canada Day.

The results of the race are as follows:

First place in the one-person race was Jeremy Phillips of Minden.

First place in the two-person event were Corinne Howell and Donna Monk of Minden.

Kevin Smith's quick-paddling team finished first in the four or more event. Helping propel this raft were Gary Smith, Craig Smith, Kirk Smith and Harland Doig.

The best dressed crew in the race was Murray Beetlestone's team.

The best decorated craft was the Australia II, manned by Peter Ellis and his family from Australia.

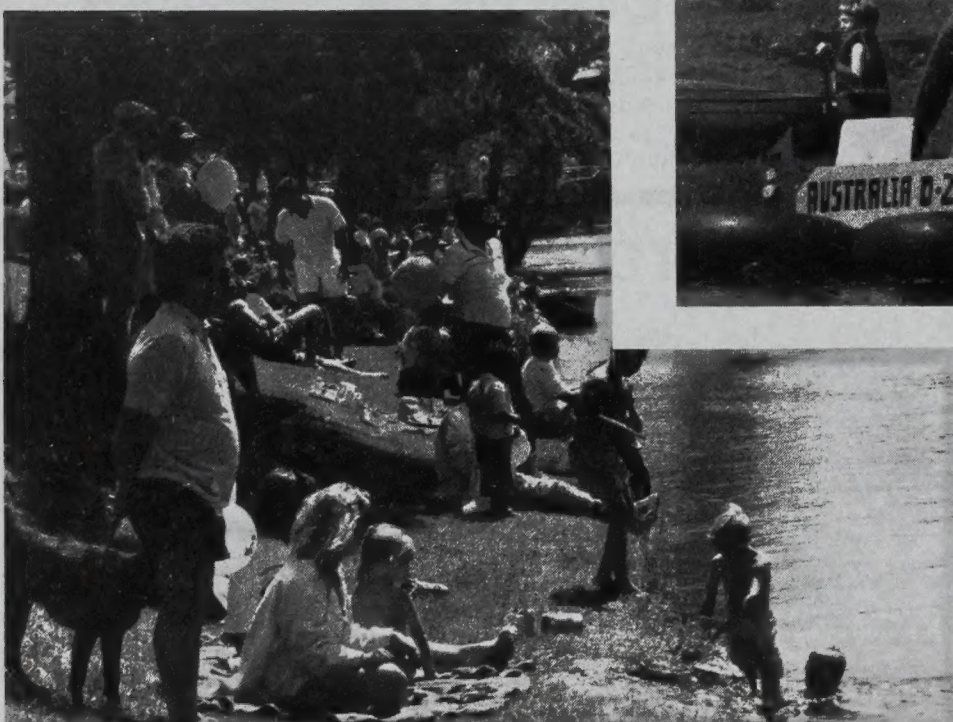

The most original craft was designed and driven by Ralph Linstead of Minden.

Honourable mention goes out to Dave Howell's team, consisting of himself, Robert Wilby, Daniel Howell and Scott Deadman. Dave says he might have won the race if one of his tires hadn't gone flat.

Witnesses outraged by cross burning

Skinhead youths, some armed with nightsticks, patrolled the perimeter of the Beattie property on the weekend.

The white supremacist rally held in Minden this past weekend was attended by approximately 90 skinheads and featured a cross burning on Saturday night.

The 15-foot-high cross was lit at about 10 pm and although it was located at the back of John Beattie's property, the flames were clearly visible from Bobcaygeon Road.

The rally also featured performances by two skinhead bands who played from early evening until just after midnight.

Despite some vocal confrontations between members of the skinhead 'security force' and local residents who gathered to observe the rally, there were no incidents of violence reported.

Skinheads and white supremacists began arriving at Beattie's property on Friday but the majority showed up Saturday morning. Beattie's driveway was blocked with a picnic table bearing a 'no trespassing' sign, and only people who had registered for the rally were admitted.

The security force consisted of a dozen youths sporting shaved heads, black t-shirts, military style pants and carrying nightsticks and hunting knives. They constantly reminded the on-lookers that anyone caught trespassing on the property would be assaulted.

As the numbers of skinheads attending the rally grew, so did the presence of television and newspaper reporters gathered at the entrance to the driveway.

Beattie ignored shouted requests for an interview and had to repeatedly caution his guards not to speak to the press.

At one point, Beattie had to reprimand some of the skinheads who were shouting racist slogans to the crowd. "No speeches," he yelled. "If you want to make speeches, go to Don Andrews house."

Andrews is the leader of the Canadian Nationalist Party, an organization who avows 'Aryan racial unity' and claims 'God is a racist.'

Beattie himself yelled at members of the press on several occasions. Once he said, "this is private property — bummer off" and when asked for a comment he yelled "happy Canada Day."

At 2 pm the bus from Toronto arrived at Beattie's property. Only about a dozen skinheads were on the bus, but so was John Ross Taylor, the man who founded the British People's League with Beattie.

Later in the afternoon, a second school bus arrived carrying 35 skinheads who had travelled from Montreal to attend the rally.

Throughout Saturday morning and afternoon, the OPP maintained an obvious presence on the scene, with cruisers passing back and forth in front of the property. As the evening approached, the officers set up a surveillance post in the driveway across the road from Beatties and maintained the position throughout the night.

As the bands began to play in the early evening, the skinheads began to chant 'white power' and 'seig heil', a phrase used in Nazi Germany to salute Adolf Hitler.

The group of spectators who gathered outside the property traded jeers and insults with the skinheads through out the evening.

An opportunity for violence arose when several locals began to yell threats at the skinheads. One of the skinheads challenged a part is unacceptable. We will not be silent," he said. "You as a community do not have to remain so."

Before the end of the day, the number of people at Beattie's property had risen to more than 100. Young skinhead guards were posted at the entrance and around the perimeter of the property as a means of keeping the public out of their unholy rally. Inside they chanted white supremacy slogans, bands played loud music on a stage flanked by swastika banners and later they torched a huge wooden cross.

In town, though, the atmosphere remained calm throughout the day. Hundreds of people relaxed on the shores of the Gull River and watched the Crazy Raft Race. Clowns walked up and down the river bank, passing out balloons and buttons to the children. It was just another pleasant Canada Day weekend in Minden.

Beattie's rally gives property owner grief

The white supremacist rally at the rented home of former Canadian Nazi Party leader John Beattie has created a great deal of grief for the landlord, but the burning of the cross was the final straw.

The landlord, who has asked to remain unnamed, was informed of the cross burning Saturday night and soon arrived at the Bobcaygeon Road property. After speaking with police on the scene, he left the property.

In response to the weekend's rally, the landlord prepared the following statement:

As the owner of the property on which the white supremacist rally was held, I want people to know that the landlord's rights are very limited when you rent a house. The renter becomes almost the same as the owner, as they as he or she looks after the place and pays the rent, they can do as they want.

Mr. Beattie and his family were excellent tenants. They seemed like very nice people and were fitting into the community. Myself, like everyone else, I knew nothing of his past and was shocked when this came to light.

I went immediately to Mr. Beattie, then to the OPP office, some of Minden council and also to my lawyer.

I was told there was nothing that I could do under the new Charter of Rights and Freedom.

I was assured that this was a small gathering of friends. However, at 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, I travelled up the road past the house and was horrified at what I saw. Later, at about 10 p.m., my wife went over with friends, for a drive and saw a cross being burned. She then phoned me and I went down. I was there and watched what went on for two hours.

I understand some people in town are blaming me for what happened. To this I say 'nuts'.

What about the bus company? Should they have brought up the bus? Should local stores not have sold them food? Should Hydo have shut off power? Should beer and liquor stores not have sold products? Should Bell telephone have taken their phone out so that this rally couldn't be arranged? Should local garages not have sold gas?

What I am saying is regardless of what you think, you can't discriminate. So don't put all the blame on my family.

We have lived here all our lives and have contributed to this community as much as any other family and we believe in freedom for everyone.

I will be talking with my lawyer early in the week and will check out my legal options. I will personally guarantee that there will never be one of these gatherings on any property I own again (it will be put in the lease).

Hopefully we have all learned something from this incident and we can build a bigger and better community in which all people can live in harmony regardless of race, colour, creed or religion.

We would like to thank all those who understand our position as a landlord, the OPP for patrolling the property, Russ Duhaime of the Minden Times and Martha Perkins of the Haliburton Echo for fair journalism.

Thank you.
The Landlord.

Corrective measures are taken

No danger to health until levels exceed 6,000 ppm

Mrs. Stainton said the association would like to see the necessary repairs done once school lets out. "A lot of parents are concerned that if the work isn't done over the summer, it won't get done," she said.

In response to the association's concerns, the board's business administrator, Jim Bradley, said that provincial health and safety standards say there is no danger to a person's health until the carbon dioxide level reaches 6000 ppm. Bradley said concerns about air quality are relatively new and are being addressed by school boards right across the province.

Mrs. Stainton said she appreciates the fact that the board is only renting the building on a temporary basis and wants to get out of it as soon as possible, but she said there was still two more years to go and she wouldn't allow her children to attend the school with the air quality the way it is now.

Many parents were under the impression that operable windows would be installed in the school as part of the work done when the board first took over the building, said Mrs. Stainton.

Trustee Len Salvatori told Mrs. Stainton that the board has to consider the limitations of this year's budget when considering any major improvements to the school.

Bradley added that there is now a substantial amount of fresh air coming in through the air conditioning unit.

Trustee Cheryl Murdoch reminded the home and school representatives that, because the board does not own the building there may be a problem with undertaking any major work including knocking holes in the walls to accommodate additional fans and window. She also echoed Salvatori's concerns about the amount of money available in the budget. "We'll do everything we can," she said. "Anything we do has to improve the situation."

When the board discussed the topic later in the meeting, chairman Wendy Ladurantaye said it was the annex's first year of operation and it's not perfect yet. She said that at the time the study was done, the air conditioning was not working but now the situation has improved.

Bradley told the trustees that the cost of installing the windows would be between $1100 and $2000 and the cost of three additional fans would add another $3300 to the price. He called adding air conditioning ducts to the two remaining rooms "minor work" and said the school is cooler than the outside temperature.

"The picture is not as gloomy as it sounds," said Salvatori.

Trustee Tim Casey said it was up to the board to "show some credibility" and install the necessary air conditioning ducts to the other two rooms.

Director of Education Stuart Baker suggested that the board do the first phase of the work and then retest the air quality to check the improvement. He said there was a limit to what the board could expect landlord Dave Dollo to allow in terms of cutting the building up to install windows and fans.

Bradley said the readings recorded in the building in January are not out of line with carbon dioxide levels in other schools and said the board intended to cut a window into the door of one of the back rooms. As well blinds have been ordered for the three large windows at the front of the school.

The trustees gave Bradley direction to go ahead and carry out the first phase of work, including the additional duct work for the air conditioner and the installation of blinds and a window in the back room.

THE MOORE LAKE INN - NEW OWNERS

Derek and Rosemary Lowry, the new owners of the Moore Lake Inn.

Long time Toronto residents Rosemary and Derek Lowry were on the verge of big-city burnout, when they recently decided to buy The Moore Lake Inn, Highway 35 at Moore Falls. Although Rosemary and Derek had been indirectly associated with several restaurants, neither had ever considered "doing a Bob Newhart" and entering the country inn business.

Both have been exceptionally busy since acquiring The Moore Lake Inn; Rosemary redesigning the menu, Derek building a new sun deck; other changes include a unique ornamental herb garden and hopefully, in the fall, an extended resident lounge.

The Lowrys plan to run the long established Inn year round, recognizing that the Haliburton Region is becoming a demand tourist destination summer and winter.

'Summer Fun '89'

There's lots for kids to do

Minden area kids looking for fun this summer can find plenty every weekday at the community centre thanks to the "Summer Fun '89" program that is being offered by the municipality.

Deneena Davis, the co-ordinator of this summer's the program, is drawing on her experience from last summer in her bid to breathe new life into recreational programs. Deneena assisted with Summer Fun last year and is planning several new activities that she hopes will spark new interest and encourage strong participation again this year.

"We're trying to expand the program," Deneena said. We want to get the kids involved and keep them involved."

Along with her assistant, Abby Burk, Deneena has set up a full schedule of sporting events to run every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday morning from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. In addition, Abby will be leading games of Flag Tag every Tuesday and Thursday starting at 1 p.m. Wednesdays are being set aside for Activity Centres, when local people will share their special interests with the kids.

For the sporting days, the kids will be split up into two groups according to their ages and abilities. Generally, children ages six to nine will be in the junior group while children aged 10 to 14 will be in the senior group.

Among the sports that will be played this summer are baseball, soccer, croquet, floor hockey, tag football, badminton and volleyball. In addition, they are introducing two new games, called newcombe and pinball.

Unlike the traditional pinball games, this version is played on a field. Deneena says it's a real strategy game in which the players try to knock down the opposition's pins by throwing a soccer ball.

Newcombe resembles volleyball, only the players catch the ball instead of bumping it. It's a great way of getting the younger kids involved in volleyball on a simpler level.

Baseball has proven to be popular in the past and, therefore, is back again this summer. Children will have to provide their own gloves to participate.

Croquet is new to the program this summer, and Deneena is hoping that people will retrieve their old forgotten sets from their basements and loan them out for use by the kids. Anyone who has croquet sets or parts of a croquet set is encouraged to call Deneena at 286-1936.

The Wednesday Activity Centres are bound to be very popular. Several local artists and craftspeople have already agreed to share their talents with the children and Deneena is hoping to get a few more lined up. This Wednesday, OPP Constable Mike Maybee will be giving a talk and demonstration on summer safety.

Details on other Activity Centres will be outlined in a weekly column that Deneena will be preparing for The Times.

The cost to participate in the sports programs is $5 for the entire summer. It will cost $5 to sign up the activity centres for the whole summer. To drop in for just one day at a time it will cost 50 cents per visit.

Full details of the program, including registration forms, are going out in the mail with the municipal tax bills.

local man to climb the fence to Beattie's property, but the police intervened before a fight could break out. "You live out here in hicksville and you think you know what's going on," one skinhead told the crowd.

Several times during the night, the skinhead guards patrolled the wooded area to the south of the property to ensure that members of the media were not trying to sneak in.

For the most part the activities of the skinheads remained concealed by the dense bush but from the road, onlookers could see the corner of a large, well-lit stage decorated with Canadian flags.

Despite Beattie's attempts to keep the skinheads from talking to the media, as the night wore on they became more vocal. "I don't think it's news that we want to preserve our seed," said one skinhead. "White men want to preserve their seed."

"Don't plant your seed in this country," came the reply from one of the spectators.

At about 1:00 am Sunday morning, an OPP Tactical Rescue Unit (TRU) arrived on the scene and joined the regular OPP forces on Larry Kent's property across the road. At about the same time police began stopping northbound traffic at the corner of Bobcaygeon Road and the East Scotch Line to try and prevent any chance of confrontation between the skinheads and local residents.

In the two weeks leading up to the rally, Beattie claimed the gathering was supposed to be a small Canada Day party with only a dozen guests. He denied having any connection to the flyer being distributed in Toronto that advertised a 'whites only' rally with live bands.

Despite his denials, the flyers accurately described the event which took place over the weekend including the cross burning.

The skinheads departed the property Sunday afternoon under close surveillance of OPP officers.

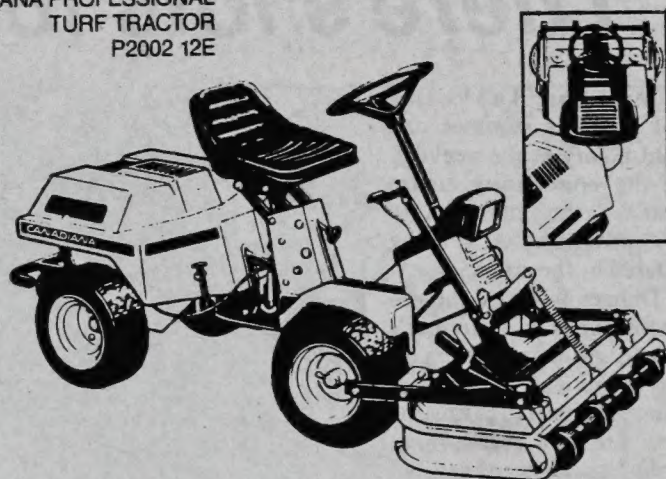

As reported in The Times last week, a similar event is being planned for the Labour Day weekend in September. However, the landlord who rents the property to Beattie is determined that this will not be the case.

B'Nai Brith says 'Thank You'

In stark contrast to the white supremacist rally held at John Beattie's Bobcaygeon home on Saturday, a group of 72 members of the Jewish organization, the B'Nai Brith, came to Minden on Sunday to oppose racism.

The group arrived in town at 11 a.m. Sunday aboard two tour buses and disembarked on the north side of the Gull River. They marched across the bridge carrying large signs with messages like, "B'Nai Brith thanks the concerned citizens of Minden" and "We will not forget."

With a crowd of spectators consisting of local towns people and media from across the province, the marchers held a short rally on the banks of the river on South Water Street.

Frank Winter, the National Vice-President of the B'Nai Brith congratulated Minden for its support in opposing the Neo-Nazi rally

Communication is key to improvements

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Better communication is needed to improve Haliburton County's special education program, according to a review carried out this year by the board of education.

Superintendent of Education Dale Robinson chaired the review committee and he submitted his report and recommendations to the trustees at last Tuesday's meeting.

The review was broken down into three specific areas; goals of the special education program, the impact of the program on the board's entire educational system and the degree of satisfaction with the program among parents, students teachers, administrators and trustees.

Three sub-committees were struck to study the specific areas of interest and each of the sub-committees recommended that the lines of communication within the system have to be improved.

"Ways need to be found to improve communication among parents, students, educators, trustees and support staff," was the first recommendation of the 'satisfaction' committee, chaired by Mary Hicks. Hicks' report also said "written communication with parents needs to be comprehensive and clearly written in layman's language."

The 'impact' committee, chaired by John Fitzgerald, recommended that, "the board and its administrators must consider ongoing and constant communication with the general public through the popular media. A marketing type of strategy should be developed to keep the public informed about areas like special education. This strategy should be more than a one year media effort. It should be ongoing and well planned."

The 'goals' committee, chaired by Debbie Wales, recommended that better communication be established between teachers, parents, and students and between regular classrooms and the special education program.

Robinson said there is a lot of stigma attached to special education and students enrolled in those programs are sometimes the subject of teasing by other students. By helping everyone understand the purpose of special education, Robinson said it might serve to reduce some of the teasing that goes on.

Trustee Tim Casey said that some regular classroom teachers need more information about special education programs so there is some continuity in the student's education.

"There is a problem, but it's improving," said Robinson. He said he's begun to see regular classroom teachers making modifications in their courses to accommodate special education students. "In some cases it was done poorly and parents were upset," he said.

The report said that the board of education's current goals relating to special education need rewriting.

The 'goals' committee found that "board goals, as pertaining to special education, are inadequate for further development of Special Education in Haliburton County." The committee recommended that the 17 goals identified by special education teachers and administrators be adopted by the board.

Among the goals identified by the committee are;

- Providing opportunities for growth in pupil self-concept,

- Addressing the social, emotional, physical and educational needs of all children and ensuring the availability of resources to assist all teachers in meeting these needs,

- Providing a comfortable, safe and productive learning environment,

- Providing assessment in order to identify a student's exceptionality, and

- Supporting and modifying regular classroom programming for the exceptional student to facilitate integration.

Robinson said one of the problems being experienced in the special program is trying to accommodate students with behavioural problems.

He said students with this sort of exceptionality can't learn at the same rate as other children and they often disrupt the entire class. It is becoming more and more difficult to find a way to deal with these students, said Robinson.

The 'impact' committee recommended that the board "should consider the establishment of a strategy to accommodate those students whose activities are so distractive that they severely interfere with the learning of the other students." Robinson suggested that a class could be set up specifically to accommodate students with behavioral problems.

Students with extreme difficulties of this nature are sent to Kinark school.

Robinson told the board that about 260 students are involved in special education programs in Haliburton County. This represents about 12 per cent of the entire student population of 2000. Only two of the 12 per cent would be students with behavioral problems, he said.

The trustees heard that an increasing number of the province's universities and colleges are offering programs for exceptional students coming out of high school special education programs.

These programs help students identify their strengths so they can realize their full potential.

Robinson cautioned that special education programs don't "cure" students with exceptionalities but rather help them to cope with their learning disabilities.

Another recommendation that was common to all three sub-committees was that regular inservice training be provided for teachers involved in special education so they may develop professionally and be kept up to date on current research and teaching strategies.

It was recommended by the 'impact' committee that the board should consider "more flexible spacial arrangements when building new structures or refurbishing old ones."

Robinson said that by offering a variety of room sizes, the board can avoid wasting space by having small classes in large rooms or, conversely, trying to squeeze large classes into small rooms.

The review committee also recommended that regular program reviews be completed every two to three years and that a position of special education coordinator/consultant be created for the county.

The trustees plan to study the report over the course of the summer to consider implementation of the recommendations.

FOR THE YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 1988

1. Accounting Policies.

The consolidated financial statements of the Corporation of the Township of Stanhope are the representation of management prepared in accordance with accounting policies prescribed for Ontario municipalities by the Ministry of Municipal Affairs. Since precise determination of many assets and liabilities is dependent upon future events, the preparation of periodic financial statements necessarily involves the use of estimates and approximations. These have been made using careful judgments.

(a) (1) Basis of Consolidation

These consolidated statements reflect the assets, liabilities, sources of financing and expenditures of the revenue fund, capital fund, reserve funds and reserves and include the activities of all committees of Council and the following boards, municipal enterprises and utilities which are under the control of Council:

Stanhope Airport Committee
Stanhope Recreation Committee
Maple Lake and Carnarvon Cemeteries

All interfund assets and liabilities and sources of financing and expenditures have been eliminated with the exception of loans or advances between reserve funds and any other funds of the municipality and the resulting interest income and expenditures.

(ii) Non-Consolidated Entities

There are no non-consolidated entities.

(iii) Accounting for County and School Board Transactions

The taxation, other revenues, expenditures, assets and liabilities with respect to the operations of the school boards, and the County of Haliburton are not reflected in the municipal fund balances of these financial statements. Overlevies (Underlevies) are reported on the "Consolidated Balance Sheet" as "other current liabilities", (other current assets)

(iv) Trust funds and their related operations administered by the municipality are not consolidated, but are reported separately on the "Trust Funds Statement of Continuity and Balance Sheet".

(b) Basis of Accounting

(i) Sources of financing and expenditures are reported on the accrual basis of accounting with the exception of principal and interest charges on long term liabilities which are charged against operations in the periods in which they are paid.

	School Boards $	County $
Taxation and user charges	755,421	129,636
Amounts received or receivable	755,421	129,636
Requisitions	757,286	129,993
Underlevies for the year	(1,865)	(357)
Overlevies at the beginning of the year	77	58
Underlevies at the end of the year	(1,788)	(299)

Trust Funds

Trust funds administered by the municipality amounting to $158,194 (1987 $158,065) have not been included in the "Consolidated Balance Sheet" nor have their operations been included in the "Consolidated Statement of Operations".

The above data has been extracted from the audited 1988 Consolidated Financial Report of the Township. Copies of the 1988 Consolidated Financial Report and the auditor's report thereon, are available at the Township Offices to any resident who wishes to review or analyze the financial operations of the Township in greater detail.

Marchers reaffirm a belief in human rights

held by Beattie.

"We applaud and salute the town and people of Minden on this day," Winter said. His remarks drew hearty applause from the crowd. "We've come here to let Canada and the world know that hatred, bigotry and racism have no place in this county and no place in our society world wide."

"We will never let the likes of (Jim) Keigstra, (Ernst) Zundel and yes, even Beattie, inflict their views on our children," Winter said.

Keigstra was an Alberta school teacher who taught his students that the Holocaust was a hoax perpetrated by the Jews to discredit the Germans. Zundel is a Toronto man who was charged with distributing anti-Semitic hate literature.

B'Nai Brith's National President Moishe Smith, addressed the crowd and said because Neo-Nazis feel comfortable coming together at rallies, it represents a threat to the Jewish community. He promised that all legal actions will be used to stop racist hatred. "There is no place for hate-mongers," he said.

Smith said that "too often Jews stand alone" in the fight against racism, so it was "wonderful to know, that in Minden human rights are alive." He praised the community's public declaration of its beliefs through the use of the 'YES' posters which affirm the belief in equality regardless of race, religion or ethnic origin.

"The entire B'Nai Brith community across the country salutes the concerned citizens of Minden," said Smith. He said that if more people had been like Minden's residents the history of the Jewish people wouldn't have been so tragic.

Simon Adler, head of the League for Human Rights, a division of the B'Nai Brith echoed Smith and Winter's praise of Minden and said he was "extremely heartened" on the drive through town to see the "flourishing YES signs."

Although the white supremacist rally could have been an embarrassment to Minden, Adler said local residents responded appropriately. He said the skin heads who attended Beattie's rally are not Canadians but the people of Minden "are true Canadians."

Arieh Fischer and Aviva Divant, two B'Nai Brith children gave brief speeches as did Max Glicksman a survivor of the Holocaust in Nazi Germany. The group ended the presentation by singing 'O Canada'.

The marchers then made their way through Minden's downtown to the United Church where they exchanged greetings with Minister Ed Moll and members of the congregation. As the march moved through the village they were greeted by passing motorists who applauded and honked their horns.

Trent Severn Waterways Report

Repeated rainfalls over various parts of the Trent and Severn watersheds have kept many lakes in a surplus condition despite higher than average outflows. Haliburton area lakes had only declined by Monday, June 19 to 98.3 per cent, then generally hovered there with little change the rest of the week. This level is 10 per cent higher than in 1988 and 7 per cent above the 10-year average.

Along the Canal Route, in both watersheds, the flows built up during this week (to June 23) such that river navigation was threatened. Closure of the locks from Hastings (Rice Lake) to Trenton is effective tomorrow (June 24) and high velocity advisories were issued for the Otonabee and Severn River sections.

No new ground broken in Conservation Officers' bid for better recognition

Ontario's Conservation Officers have again asked the Minister of Natural Resources to hear their concerns but no new ground has been broken.

Dave Ferguson, a C.O. in Minden, was among 90 officers from across the province who travelled to Queen's Park last Monday seeking a meeting with Natural Resources Minister Vince Kerrio.

Kerrio refused to meet with the group, although he did briefly confer with three spokespersons.

According to the officers, Kerrio promised to resolve their case quickly when he became minister in 1985. However, four years have passed and little progress has been made.

Like police, Conservation Officers carry guns, wear a uniform and are authorized to enforce all legislation under the Criminal Code. Their mandate is to protect the province's wildlife and three quarters of the job is enforcement.

In spite of these similarities, they earn $10,000 a year less than an OPP officer and Ministry of Environment enforcement officer.

The Ontario Public Service Employees' Union (OPSEU) has been fighting for recognition of Conservation Officers since 1979. In spite of the fact that most of their time is spent on enforcement, they are grouped with resource technicians as a bargaining unit with the ministry. The 240 officers are asking to be granted separate status.

PREVENT WILDFIRES

Job creation funds announced

Bill Scott, MP for Victoria-Haliburton today announced $276,094 in funding for a project to help disadvantaged women re-enter the work force in the Haliburton area.

The announcement was made on behalf of Employment and Immigration Minister Barbara McDougall.

The project, sponsored by Sir Sandford Fleming College, will teach 15 clients various life skills, academic upgrading, office skills, computer literacy and retail sales training. This project has been in operation since 1987 and has a very high success rate, placing over 70 percent of the clients that receive training.

In addition to the various training components, there are work placement assignments for all the clients with local businesses. Several of these placements have resulted in permanent employment in the past.

The funding for this project came from the Severely Employment Disadvantaged option of the Job Entry program which is a component of the Canadian Jobs Strategy. This option assists those people who face significant barriers in finding and keeping employment by providing for employment preparation and guidance to help individuals become ready for work.

County kids can learn French the easy way

Haliburton County children will have the opportunity to expand their French language skills through classes that are being organized by a Haliburton woman.

Dr. Janis Guthy from the Haliburton Chiropractic Clinic is setting up classes that will begin this September.

"Learning French the Easy Way" is a program designed to introduce the basic oral skills of French language. Songs, games, dramatic activities and chanting of phrases will encourage active use of the language, says Guthy.

The program is targeted for three groups of children. Group A is for children of ages four and five. Group B is for six- and seven-year-olds. Group C is for eight- and nine-year-olds.

The program will be offered Saturday mornings from 9 a.m. to noon, starting on Sept. 9 and ending on June 9. It will be taught by Francine DeMars on a voluntary, non-profit basis. Parents will have to pay a small fee to cover the teacher's cost of materials. Students will also be expected to supply some of their own materials, such as crayons, glue and scissors.

Registration is on a first-come-first-served basis. Class size will be limited to 20 students. The course gives students the opportunity of learning French before it is formally taught in the schools.

Parents wishing to enrol their children in the program, or wishing more information are encouraged to call Guthy's office on Mondays, Wednesdays or Fridays at 457-1514.

Minden OPP Notes

During the week of June 19 to 25, officers of the Minden OPP Detachment investigated 71 general occurrences and 16 traffic accidents with eight persons injured.

During the week of June 12 to 18, police investigated 59 general occurrences and 11 traffic accidents with one person injured.

THEFTS

More than 2,000 litres of diesel fuel was stolen from the Ridgeview Restaurant in Harcourt.

An eight horsepower Mariner outboard motor was stolen in Minden.

A six horsepower Evinrude outboard motor was stolen in the Maple Lake area.

A two-section dock was stolen from Horseshoe Lake.

Two tires and rims from a Kawasaki motorcycle were stolen in Stanhope Township.

A tackle box with a large quantity of fishing tackle was stolen from Redstone Lake.

Two Lockwood metal-clad windows were stolen from the Donald area.

Four bottles of liquor were stolen from Twelve Mile Lake area.

An ONC Tracker fish finder was stolen in the Wilberforce area.

A 9.9 horsepower Evinrude outboard motor was stolen from the Mountain Lake area.

ACCIDENT

Two people were injured in a three-car accident at 10 a.m. on June 24 on Highway 35 at Scotch Line Road.

OPP Constable Ken Wesley was parked on the west shoulder of the highway at Scotch Line Road. Sheldon Stevenson of Minden was northbound on the highway attempting a left turn. A southbound vehicle driven by David Saracino collided with Stevenson's vehicle, then hit the police cruiser.

Stevenson has been charged with making an improper left turn.

PEDESTRIAN STRUCK

William Borden, 74, of Haliburton was struck by a car driven by Brian Hughes of Minden on June 19 on Highway 121. Borden was walking to his mail box and stepped out into the path of the vehicle. Both Borden and Hughes were injured in the accident. No charges will be laid.

BREAK-INS

A series of break-ins has occurred over the past four weeks at cottages on the north shore of Lake Kashagawigamog at the Ingoldsby end of the lake.

Stolen property from the five break-ins consists of clothing, kitchen utensils and appliances, coffee makers, a microwave oven, a television, a video cassette recorder, tapes, a stereo system, chainsaws, power tools, and food.

Anyone with information about these break-ins is asked to call Constable Al Bibby at the Minden OPP detachment.

MISCHIEF

Ralph St. John, 36, of Scarborough has been charged with mischief, after an investigation of a car being damaged by a pellet gun on June 14. St. John will appear in court on July 5.

POSSESSION

Cheryl Hawk, 31, of Scarborough, has been charged with possession of stolen property after she was found with towels belonging to a local motel. Hawk will appear in court on August 2.

FRAUD

Elizabeth Joy Hie, 40, of Haliburton has been charged with three counts of fraud. The charges stem from several cheque investigations. Hie will appear in court on July 5.

The judges had a some trouble—and a lot of fun—choosing which pooch was the best of the lot during an hilarious dog show at Hyland Crest last week. Dogs and owners were dressed in their finest attire for the entertaining show in front of large group of residents at the home. At times it was difficult to tell the difference between the canine and the master—especially when the owners tried to lead their best friends through the obstacle course. All of the residents enjoyed the show and the dog owners have vowed to do it again later in the year.

Education is best weapon in war on drugs

Society has to put the use of illegal drugs in the same position it has placed the use of tobacco and to a certain degree, drinking and driving, if it wishes to solve the problem. Only by making illegal drug use socially unacceptable will society be able to gain any headway in ridding our communities of this scourge. That was the message Muskoka-Parry Sound MPP Ken Black brought to a public meeting June 26 in Minden.

The meeting was sponsored by the Rotary Club of Minden and was held to allow Mr. Black to report on the findings of his one man provincial task force into the problems and extent of illegal drug use in Ontario. In addition to members of the service club, the gathering attracted a number of members of the public.

'He could have been a child of yours'

Mr. Black was appointed in August by Premier David Peterson following the death of Toronto teenager Benji Hayward after a rock concert. An inquest into the youth's death determined that he had been taking LSD during a rock concert. "He could have been a child of yours," Black told the audience.

He said his investigation across the province and into other jurisdictions revealed that one in four or five school aged children would experiment with illegal drugs in the coming year. At the college/university level, the incidence increases to 35% while among "street kids" the amount of use rises to 76%.

Black said a large part of the blame for the wide-spread use of illegal drugs can be traced to the public's attitude. He noted Canada is one of the most heavily medicated societies in the world with drug use ranging from prescription drugs to over the counter medications, tobacco, alcohol and other stimulants. "What message are you sending out to our young people when mom or dad need several cocktails to unwind at the end of each day?" He said if change is to take place, it must start in the local community and in the family where values and attitudes about drugs are formed.

While he noted that education and positive value re-inforcement appears to be the best way to attack the problem, adults need to change their attitudes as well. He said while joining police on a drug stake-out in Toronto, he observed that most of the purchasers of cocaine at one location were young professional individuals with young families.

"The best people to find a solution to the drug problem here in Minden are not people from Toronto, they are people in this room and community," Black told the audience. He said the community should form what he called an "action group" to promote positive attitudes among youth; to give prominence to individuals who succeed without the use of drugs; and to show young people how to avoid the pitfalls of illegal drug use.

The MPP said drug education should begin at the primary level and follow students throughout their school years, that parents need to re-inforce those lessons and ensure that young people not only know when to say "no", but how. "It's not an easy thing to fight peer pressure," he pointed out.

The MPP urged those in attendance to get behind the efforts of the province to start grass-roots organizations in each community. He noted education information will be available to community groups and a number of service clubs have already committed resources to the fight against illegal drug use. "This is your problem," he concluded, "you have to be a part of the solution. Everyone has to be involved."

CONCERNED ABOUT THE ENVIRONMENT?

At Rusty's Auto Service we do care, that's why we've installed the latest in freon recycling equipment. Freon, the gas used in automobile air conditioning units, has been identified as one of the components damaging the protective ozone layer which surrounds the earth. Rather than releasing freon into the atmosphere when servicing or repairing your air conditioning unit, the new equipment allows us to hold the freon and recycle it, providing protection for our environment.

This freon recycling service is not just for our customers. We invite other garages in the area to use the service free of charge and join us in helping to protect our environment.

While there are numerous teachers retiring from the Haliburton County Board of Education, few will have received a gift as unusual as the one presented to John McLennan last week. The elementary school teacher of 33 years, at the right, shared a grade four class this past year with Cathy Rogers, left, at Archie Stouffer Elementary School. When the students learned he was retiring from the profession, they decided to present him with a parting gift. Knowing of his interest in the out-of-doors, and having visited his home near Dorset, the students felt a most appropriate gift would be fish. Pooling their resources, the young people gave Mr. McLennan 30 seven-to-nine inch rainbow trout from a hatchery near Kinmount. The lively gift was delivered directly to the pond on the teacher's property. Ian McKenzie in the front row, holds the certificate which Mr. McLennan received from the students to mark this special gift.

Payne and friends entertained the seniors

To start another week we had a lovely tea party Thursday, provided and served by the Anglican Church Women. Mrs. Nancy Gayton played the piano during the tea party which helped to make the tea party very enjoyable.

Mr. Tom McAllister came Thursday night and called bingo for us. We appreciate very much having a caller. Thank you sincerely.

Thursday night was graduation at Archie Stouffer's School. Alice Todd attended as Chris, her grandson graduated into high school. Several of the residents' relatives graduated and received awards.

Friday afternoon Marjory Renick, Mrs. Warburton, Byrl and Bob Fleming entertained us with a hymn sing. Grace Coburn led the singing for the first part. Bob Fleming sang several solos which were very enjoyable. Mrs. Renick accompanied on the piano and sang.

Lola Prentice had her cousin Ross Cheney to visit her Wednesday.

Friday night Bill Payne, George Smith and Don were here to entertain us. Eldon Deacon who usually comes had other commitments for that evening. Of course the residents really enjoyed them.

Saturday morning was our walkathon to raise funds to help buy a new bus, which we need badly. Everyone who walked completed the walk. We sincerely thank those who sponsored them.

In the afternoon Doris and Linda took the residents who wished to go to Haliburton for part of the Highland Games. It was made much more enjoyable by the thoughtfulness of Gary McKnight who made it possible for us to sit in the shade and he had chairs from Hyland Crest all arranged for us in a reserved area. Everyone had a good time, but oh, those pesky big flies! We wish to thank Ellen Holden, Deloris Bailey, volunteers who assisted those who needed help.

There were movies Monday night shown by Ena Marion and Ruth Rice.

Last week Pearl Kernohan visited Hyland Crest to see several friends who are residents here, also John and Betty Lonsdale from British Columbia.

Sunday Denise and Bud Teasdale called her to see Bud's mother and other friends who are here.

There were three birthdays during this week. Grace Coburn, June 23/89, Ada Lewis, June 27/89, and we are very sorry Ina McGuire, June 27/89, was celebrated in Peterborough Hospital. Happy birthday to all.

Isabel Gardener has returned after a stay in the hospital. We are glad to have her back.

Tuesday, Linda and Doris took us for a bus ride to Kinmount, Fenelon Falls, and home by highway 35. Our trip was made very pleasant by the music and singing of Mr. Jack Foster and his wife Ruth. We thank them and the volunteers Peggy and Doris. We had a happy drive and really appreciate it.

The Strawberry tea and Bazaar was held Wednesday June 28, 1989 in the auditorium. The attendance was very good for both the strawberry tea and the bazaar. Both had a successful afternoon. The quilt was drawn for at 3:30 p.m. and the winner was Georgina Deaks a member of Hyland Crest Auxiliary. Thanks to the volunteers who helped so well with the bazaar, Mary Guilman, Ellen Holden, and Peggy Dixon.

Stella Walker and Alice Jones came to see Ruby Lewis. They brought in a video tape of the last service in the Haliburton Baptist Church by Rev. John Smith before he left to take charge of the Chatham Church. They invited me to watch it with Ruby. It was very good.

by Jeanne Sears. Call 286-1538.

Jean Lacey is away visiting with her family at Orangeville and Shelburne.

Sunday, June 25 we heard there were several severe storms around us but these missed our village.

Sincere sympathy to the families and friends of the late John Scott, Mrs. Jack Boughner both of Haliburton and Maye Parker (my cousin) of Lindsay whose funerals were since last week.

Winners at the weekly euchre games at Minden legion on July 22nd was lone hands Jeanne Sears, Jack Chilton and others Michael Tchida, Verna McDonald, Reg Munns, Olive Daniels, Grace Munns and Murray Daniels.

South Lake Trailer Folk had Bingo Saturday night with winner of the Jackpot Barb Taylor.

Minnie Austen was away for a nice long visit with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Austen and Melissa at Red Lake. I heard you are a successful fisherperson, Minnie.

The residents at Lochlin Retirement Home welcome their new Director Helen Tait who comes from Orillia and she's very competent and is a great cook.

Further to last week, Irene Stewart will be soon moving to Extendicare at Lawrence Ave. East in Scarborough, very near Sandy and Cookie.

Martha Group of U.C.W. had their pot luck supper at Minden United Church Hall on Wednesday, June 28.

Blake Hughes and a friend from Mississauga visited one day last weekend with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hughes.

There was great activity at one building as Brandon group moved into their new store with all the SHOES. We understand that Ted Brandon will be at this location and Carpeting is another part. All this was the former Home Hardware store on Main Street.

Several people who have been in hospital are Melissa Hampson and Cecil Smith and some others have had the flu. Good wishes to all.

Doreen Dufty is away for a while visiting her relatives in Alberta.

Dorothy Jack and Elva Milburn were over to visit Bert Milburn at Matheson last weekend.

John and Betty Lonsdale of Sook, B.C. called Audrey and Bob Vick one day and are busy visiting other relatives and friends in Kinmount.

Recent guests with Dorothy Mc Elwain have been John and Mildred Clarke of Durham and Kirk McElwain of Pickering.

Wednesday, June 28, saw the ribbon cutting at Staunworth Terrace. Many people then visited friends' apartments and a tour of this facility. Then all went over to the Curling Club where dignitaries brought greetings and congratulations. Following this the buffet was enjoyed and a social time and chat went on. Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Arsenault and the residents of Staunworth Court and Staunworth Terrace provided the food and all are to be congratulated for the delicious food and many goodies.

Some coming events are New Horizon Meeting at Museum at 2:00 p.m. on July 5th, Agriculture meeting on July 11 at 7:30 at Fair Grounds. Attic Treasures and Bake Sale by Museum Committee at Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down forward, backward and diagonally.

They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Dale Austin Realty INC.
REAL ESTATE BROKER

ANNOUNCEMENT

ROBERT C. "BOB" TAYLOR

Bob Taylor, with 43 years of sales experience, has joined Dale Austin Realty Inc. Bob has been a cottage owner for the last 18 years and a permanent resident of Kennisis Lake for 6 years. He welcomes all his friends and past customers to call for information regarding sales or listings on cottages, lots or homes in the Haliburton area.

Hundreds took part in this year's senior games

Hundreds of Haliburton County seniors participated in the senior games again this year and the awards ceremony was held recently at the Royal Canadian Legion in Haliburton.

Euchre was the most popular event in the games with 144 people taking part. A close second was contract bridge with 80 participants. There were 20 participants in duplicate bridge, 10 in tennis, 17 in walking, 64 in bowling, 76 in cribbage, 27 in darts, 58 in golf, 20 in horseshoes, 21 in lawn bowling, 60 in shuffleboard, and nine in swimming.

The following are the Gold, Silver and Bronze medal winners in each of the events:

Duplicate Bridge—Audrey Deremo and Joyce Burtch, Lenore and Hadden Gillespie, Wyn and Ken Elgar.

OPP and RCMP combine to patrol waters

If you were out in your boat this Canada Day Weekend, you probably noticed something new in marine patrols.

The Ontario Provincial Police and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police combined forces to expand their marine policing capabilities. They are sharing both human resources and marine equipment to establish co-operative and joint marine policing patrols.

The increased police presence is intended to act as a preventive means, to provide more rapid response to emergencies and to reinforce safe and enjoyable use of provincial waterways.

The two major causes of fatal boating accidents are capsizing and falling overboard.

So far there have been 12 fatal accidents on Ontario waterways this year, nine of which involved capsized boats. Alcohol was a factor in nearly half of them.

Timber Management Plan draft complete

The first draft of a new timber management plan (T.M.P.) for the Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre has been completed.

The plan is now being analysed by Ministry of Natural Resources regional and main office specialists to make sure it is technically sound, and that it has been prepared in accordance with environmental assessment requirements.

Members of the public will have an opportunity to review the document and maps at the Draft Plan Review open house to be held at the Frost Centre on Thursday, July 27, for 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

This open house is the third of four opportunities for members of the public to participate in the direction and development of the timber management plan. The Invitation to Participate open house was held on July 28, 1988 and the Information Centre

Review open house on March 25, 1989.

The draft plan will be available for inspection for an additional 30 days, after which it will be revised, if necessary, as a result of the internal analysis and public review.

Approval is being sought by December 31, so that the plan can be implemented on April 1, 1990. Although the T.M.P. has a planning horizon of 20 years, it will be reviewed and renewed every 5 years. The plan will govern operations between April 1, 1990 and March 31, 1995.

HIGHLIGHTS

—the thrust of management is toward forest health and improvement—

- The Frost Centre covers an area of 23,741 hectares, of which 3,244 hectares is water—

- There are 20,297 hectares of forested land, of which 11,954 hectares are dedicated to timber management—

- each year for the next 5 years, 395 hectares are available for harvest, renewal and forest improvement—

- three management systems will be used in harmony with the nature of the forest— 83% selection; 9% shelterwood and 8% clear-cut—

- members of the public and MNR staff identified 34 Areas of Concern, in which timber operation will be modified, and certain areas will be reserved from cutting—

- timber management objectives and strategies address forestry awareness and education, environmental and economic aspects of managing the forest, the directions for innovative and experimental timber management—

- access to timber operation areas will be by temporary winter roads, that will not require graveling—most are old logging trails used in the past—

NOTICE

A field crew, contracted by the Ministry of Natural Resources, will be carrying out a forestry survey on various private land holdings within the Minden District this summer. Information obtained on species, height, diameter and age of trees will aid in the production of Forest Resource Inventory maps. This field party will be carrying proper identification should you encounter them on your property.

Timber Management Plan can be viewed at Frost Centre's fourth open house

Thursday, July 27, marks the Frost Centre's Fourth annual Open House.

Among the many events planned for this day will be the Public Review of the Draft Timber Management Plan (T.M.P.) for the Frost Centre Crown Management Unit.

Here's your chance to:

- review how earlier comments and submissions have been considered in the preparation of the draft T.M.P.

- comment on decisions which have been made.
- review and comment on MNR's preliminary list of outstanding required alterations, if any.

Timber Management Plans (T.M.P.'s) give an overview of the forest and set forth objectives for managing the timber resource. The T.M.P.'s tell us how much timber should be harvested, where, when and how so the forest can be renewed and maintained in healthy condition.

The Frost Centre's planning team is preparing a new T.M.P. for the Frost Centre Crown Management Unit. Although the plan covers a 20-year period, from 1990 to 2110, it will be renewed every five years to allow revisions and adjustments that may become necessary. At each five-year review, the T.M.P. will be extended another five years so it will always have a 20 year planning horizon.

Operations such as tree marking, timber sales, planning, tending and forest protection are underway at the Frost Centre, as on other Crown Management units throughout Ontario. All these activities are directed by approved Timber Management Plans.

Everyone can play a part in managing the Frost Centre forests, so it is important that the planning team hears from you. The Public Review of the Draft Timber Management Plan is your third opportunity to influence the planning team in developing a timber management plan that reflects the needs of all users of the Frost Centre forests.

In the Frost Centre area, the varied interests of a wide range of forest users come together. School groups, hunters, tourists, cottagers, loggers, anglers, skiers, snowmobilers, all use the forest for different reasons. The Frost Centre's challenge in managing the 24,000 hectares of forest land and water is to provide opportunities for everyone.

Over 11,000 people visit the Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre each year. Located just south of Dorset, near Algonquin Park, the Centre is operated by the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources to show visitors how our natural resources are managed.

For more information on timber management, please call Frank Bes, Forestry Specialist, at the Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre (705) 766-2451.

Dorset Acid Rain Report

The following report on precipitation events was recorded at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset and compiled by Environment Canada.

This report covers the period of June 18 to June 22.

June 18 - 1 mm rain, 4.2

pH, from Indiana, Michigan and southern Ontario.

June 19 - 6 mm rain, 4.2 pH, from Ohio and southern Ontario.

June 21 - 2 mm rain, 4.2 pH, from Pennsylvania, New York and eastern Ontario.

June 22 - 5 mm rain, 3.9 pH, from South Carolina,

Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

IN APPRECIATION

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of you for making my first year in the real estate profession such a success. The past year has been very busy, averaging more than one successfully transacted sale per week. To Vendors and Purchasers, thanks for putting your trust in me.

Thanks to all other agents for listing the properties which I sold, and who sold the properties which I listed. Thanks to our secretary and management staff for all of your help. Thanks to the financing people, advertising people and solicitors who helped to complete the transactions. And last but certainly not least a big thanks goes out to my wife and children who put up with a lot of late nights and missed appointments.

Thank you one and all and ... REMEMBER!

D-Day site revisited by hundreds of Canadians

by Bill Scott, M.P.

Representatives from all Canadian units who took part in the Normandy landings travelled to France recently to commemorate the 45th anniversary of D-Day and the beginning of the end of the Second World War.

Canadian soldiers made up nearly 20 per cent of the total Allied landing force on June 6, 1944. More than 15,000 brave Canadians came ashore on Juno Beach, many from landing crafts manned by sailors of the Royal Canadian Navy. Crucial air cover was supplied by the Royal Canadian Airforce.

For many Canadians, the D-Day landing was a first and last military experience. Our forces suffered 1,074 casualties; 359 Canadian soldiers died.

D-Day was only the first battle, although the best remembered by history, in the Normandy campaign. Terrible fighting followed the landing. The majority of Canadians felled during that time died in the struggle for the city of Caen and during the effort to stop the enemy army from escaping through the Falaise Gap. Indeed, more than 5,400 Canadians are buried in Normandy.

The final ceremony of the pilgrimage was held in the town of Falaise, where the townspeople unveiled a memorial to their "Canadian liberators."

Leading the recent pilgrimage to France was Gerald Merrithew, Minister of Veterans Affairs. He was joined by representatives from the Royal Canadian Navy, the Canadian Army and the Royal Canadian Airforce. The Minister was also accompanied by members of the Royal Canadian Legion and the National Council of Veterans Associations in Canada.

It was my privilege on June 6th to present the following statement in the House of Commons:

WORLD WAR II Remembrance Ceremonies In Normandy

Mr. W.C. Scott (Victoria - Haliburton): Mr. Speaker, much of the world is looking and remembering D-Day. We Canadians in particular have a special reason to recall June 6, 1944.

This morning representatives of all Canadian units involved in D-Day and the Minister of Veterans Affairs (Mr. Merrithew) were at the Beny-Sur-Mer Canadian war cemetery in Normandy. There are over 2,000 Canadians buried there, young men killed either on D-Day itself or in the follow-up drive to push inland.

We naturally think of D-Day as an event colossal in scope but in truth D-Day was like any other battle. Success or failure depended on a series of individual engagements.

Today let us bless the memory of those Canadians who fought those individual battles. Some are buried in Beny-Sur-Mer. Some went on to liberate The Netherlands less than a year later. All helped to restore freedom to Europe. Our gratitude has not faded with time, and let us hope it never will.

Some Hon. Members: Hear, hear!

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

Museum Committee finalizes plans for its yard sale

The regular meeting of County Town Museum Committee was at the Museum, June 28th, with Irene Moore in charge and 9 members present. Some members offered to work some Wednesdays at the Museum. Christmas in July exhibit is now in place. Plans were finalized for July 8 Attic Treasures and Bake Sale at Parkette. We are raffling the baby quilt donated by Siiri Mielonen with tickets to be sold and draw to be made at the fair. July 26th will be our next meeting and a new display will be set up at that time. We enjoyed that cold fruit drink brought in by Alice Don. The Museum building is open Monday through Saturday for 10-4:30. Much effort is put into the displays and the committee urges Minden People to come and see what is there and bring your visitors as well. Special at this time is the display of many children's toys - and small gifts for each child.

Andy Bacon and Stacey Vick are the recipients of this year's awards of merit from former school board trustee George Simmons. The awards were presented at the Grade 8 graduation ceremony to the two outstanding Snowdon Townships students.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank those who helped put new roof on my home after B&E roofing and contracting of Norland, Ontario took old shingles off and left it open to the weather for days. I thank you all sincerely.

Mariam Agget, Kinmount, Ont.

On the June 24th weekend I was up from Toronto to visit my parents at their cottage located on Gull Lake. That Sunday I was assisting my father in removing broken tree branches standing on top of the tractors blade elevated some 12 feet off the ground. I was injured when the hydraulics failed causing the blade to suddenly drop and stop half way resulting in an uncontrolled fall (and) coming in contact with the top edge of the blade across my chest and then falling onto the ground. Being in much pain and out of breath, another member of my family immediately phoned the Minden Ambulance Detachment for assistance.

I would like, along with my wife and family, to express much appreciation and many thanks to:

*Ambulance paramedics Bill Davis and Pat Kennedy from the Haliburton Detachment (in to service Minden that day) for their quick response on the call, for the professional medical assistance and expedient delivery to the Minden Hospital.

*The Minden Fire Department and O.P.P. officers called out to assist in what was thought to be a more serious accident.

*Dr. Bill Pignatelli and nurses Judy Phillips, Judy Potter, Irene Moxam and staff at the Minden Hospital for the immediate and excellent treatment received.

*And a "special" thanks to the staff for sacrificing their staff-room table-top, circulating fan to make my overnight stay more comfortable! Keep up the great work! It's a good feeling to know you're all there when needed.

Many regards,
Dave Jochim, Minden.

We would like to thank everyone for all the beautiful wedding gifts and also everyone that helped in any way to make our day such a happy and memorable one.

Scott & Lori Danilko

Thanks to Carnarvon Lanes for the great bowling party and especially to the Anonymous Bowler who found our camera and kindly returned it in June 17.

IN MEMORIAM

LACEY: In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Cliff, taken from us July 6, 1987.

We are sad within our memory,
Lonely are our hearts today;
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever been called away;
We think of him in silence,
No eye can see us weep,
But many silent tears are shed
When others are asleep.

Miss you and love you,
Jean & Family.

BABINEAU: Colette (Hudson) In loving memory of our dear daughter who passed away July 3, 1988.

We watched you suffer, we heard you sigh.
But all we could do was just stand by.
When that time came we suffered too,
For you never deserved what you went through.
God took your hand, we had to part.
He eased your pain, but broke our hearts.
We know these are the words you would have replied:
"This life for me is truly past, I loved you all 'til the very last.
Weep not for me, but courage take,
And love one another for my sake.
Don't cry, I'm only sleeping.
We'll meet again someday."

Loved and sadly missed by parents Al and Meryl Hudson, brother Darryl, sister Marla and family.

Tip For The Week

Three easy tricks for better BBQ results: Attempt to bring your meat to 70° just before cooking; using meat fat or vegetable oil, grease the grill first; Do not apply BBQ sauces until the last minutes of cooking.
